Best Practice 1: Student Mentoring – A new Remedial Model for slow learners

1. Title of the practice

Student Mentoring – A new Remedial Model for slow learners

2. Goal

To mentor students with a holistic approach to understand the academic and other needs of the students and to offer solutions to the needs of the students.

Learning is the foremost objective of any student. The ability to learn gets reflected in the academic performance of the students. The poor academic performance of the students is not only a result of lack of student's intellectual ability but a complex combination of various factors such as (= hailing from families with) poor economic conditions, dysfunctional families, first generation graduates and lack of proper guidance.

In the light of the above mentioned context, the need was felt to create a student mentoring program with a holistic approach. This mentoring model was conceived to achieve the goal of making the atmosphere conducive for producing good academic performance from the students.

3. The Context

The College is located in a semi urban locality. The college attracts students from both rural and semi urban communities. The physical, mental and intellectual traits of the students vary from one to another. Hence there are many reasons for poor academic performances which had a retarding effect on their educational development other than limited intellectual ability. A healthy and wholesome mentoring model to address the factors which influence the academic performance was implemented.

4. The Practice

After a careful analysis of the students' performance in the examination and diagnosing the areas of difficulty and areas that need attention, two new programs were started. One is the Meet your Mentor (MYM) and the other Minimum Learning Material (MLM).

MYM was initiated to offer mentoring to slow learners with special focus on the student's academic performance. The Mentors had specific number of students under their tutelage whom they met periodically to understand their needs and monitor their progress. Some of the issues handled were:

1. Academics- CIA & university examination
2. Attendance- medical reasons, personal problems, attitude -counseling
3. Communication skills- difficulties in understanding the subject, teacher, method of teaching etc...
4. Discipline - late coming, following the rules & regulation of the college, class discipline.

After a one to one interaction, problems and difficulties of the students were sorted out either with counseling or warning and strict action for the problematic students. The observations were brought to the notice of the parents to achieve the desired results. Interaction with the parents revealed that many of them were totally unaware of their ward's poor performance and absenteeism.

Minimum Learning Material (MLM): Suitably tailored lesson notes on all subjects were prepared by teachers for the benefit of slow learners. The students prepared for the exams from these notes as it helped them to have a better grasp of all the lessons and also prepare well the oft repeated questions that appeared in the university exams.

5. Evidence of Success

The implementation of the new remedial model paved way for never before rapport between staff and students. A significant positive change in the attitude of the students was observed by the mentors. The signs of success of this program were largely quantitative in nature like punctuality, improved discipline, willingness to learn etc... After the implementation of the new remedial measures, it was found that the student's attendance percentage improved by 12 % and overall passes percentage improved by 10%.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

The teachers – students ratio play a critical role in the success of this program as lesser the number of students mentored by a teacher promises high percentage of success. Many of our students have taken up part time job to support themselves so their physical availability in the campus is considerably hampered.

Best Practice 2: International Students Football Premier League

1. Title of the Practice:

Promotion of pluralism and inclusiveness in College through Sports.

2. Goal:

To foster camaraderie and harmony among students of different countries in the College Campus through sports.

Diversity is a fundamental aspect of life and a defining character of higher education which enriches the educational experience. With the increasing presence of foreign students in the college campus, the need was felt to create an environment of healthy co-existence by initiating activities in various domains like academic, cultural and sports.

Sports being an arena where team work, mutual respect and acceptance come to the fore, AIS-FPL was conceived to achieve the goal of making the campus conducive for a vibrant community to thrive.

3. The Context:

In the globalised world cultural diversity serves as a source of exchange, innovation & creativity. The presence of foreign students on the campus is a great boon in this respect. The local community benefits a great deal by the participation and interaction with their foreign counterparts. Need was felt to create friendly and healthy platforms for the students to mingle, and co-exist in harmony. AIS-FPL was an attempt at this, making campus life interesting and appealing to both local and foreign students and serving as a valuable educational tool for both.

4. The Practice:

In a first-ever of its kind attempt, the foreign and NRI students Cell of the College in association with the Department of Physical Education organized AIS-FPL as part of International Students Day Celebrations . Football, being a sport close to the heart and land of the foreign students, the College deemed it fit to organize a match between students across the world studying in the College.

The 3-day tournament, from 29 to 31 January 2014, witnessed participation from 3 teams - Africa SC(Sudan, Comoros ,Yemen), Indian United(India & the NRIs)and Himalayan FC(Bhutan, Tibet, Nepal).

It was indeed a thrilling sight to see as students from various nationalities meet on common ground, a love of sport uniting them. The matches held the attention of the spectators and each goal scored was accompanied by thunderous applause that spurred the team as to do better. The rolling trophy was won by Indian FC United. Rahul Ahongsangbam of Indian FC united was declared the top scorer and Abdoulbar Alfakihi of Africa SC United, the best player. The Principal of the College congratulated all teams for their passionate participation and gave away the Trophy, medals and certificates to the winning and participating teams. The 3 day tournament would surely go down in the annals of the College as a memorable event that would become a trend-setter in the years to come. The Unique feature of the tournament was that students from different countries and different religious faiths came together on a common platform for the love of the Sport.

5. Evidence of success:

The Sporting extravaganza has had a very positive impact on the College Community as a whole. A significant improvement in relations among the competing teams was noticeable, which slowly spread among all students. A tangible difference in perception could be observed among the foreign students signifying a sense of belonging to the College which resulted in their increased participation in college events.

The increased number of foreign students seeking admission could also be a positive fall out of this practice.

6. Problems encountered and Resources required:

Due to paucity of time, the students were not able to get sponsors for the matches. Hence the teams had to meet their own expenses, like the purchase of kits and jerseys.
